This will allow us to add more geothermal wells. We try to optimize the building energy with the process energy. By doing that, we get considerable savings.

Mr. Boles stated they’ll have a 7.5 ft. sidewalk along M & L St. and then a 6.5 ft. sidewalk along 8th Street. We’ll be adding 92 jobs, another $3 million in salaries. The block has been placed on the Register of Historic Places.

Council Member Jonathan Cook inquired about the options on saving money on energy and the use of District Energy Corporation. Mr. Boles shared that they have 12 different well fields primarily because of District Energy network and a great local installer base. Discussion followed.

Mr. Cook requested for David Carey, Acting Planning Director to come forward and clarify the thought process behind the vacation of City right-of-way. David Carey, Acting Planning Director, came forward and said the best way to view this project is as a package because there are several different things occurring. The redevelopment plan for this block was approved back in 2010. The intentions of the redevelopment plan is to redevelop this block and have the employer go to this location to rehabilitate and reuse the historic building. Those are benefits to the community that are already in motion. Adding the geothermal aspect of the project creates another level of uniqueness that is brought to this proposal for the right-of-way vacation. It makes sense to do the right-of-way vacation considering the geothermal aspect and the history of this block. Also because this is an existing building we are retaining the physical foot print of the building which we want to see continue to be there. Discussion followed.

Council Member Carl Eskridge inquired what the legal options would be in the future, if there was a need to have to change this right-of-way vacation. Rick Peo, Assistant City Attorney, came forward to state that ultimately you have the power of eminent domain. He said overtime development changes and you can’t always look to far into the future. The Discussion followed.

This matter was taken under advisement.
