On Lincoln Municipal Code §10.32.190

Dear Mr Christensen,

Our present state, that is, pandemic, presents a number of existing challenges to many parts of our lives. In particular, it has changed how and where we work, and the frequency and extent of our travel. This is manifest as many of us now work from home, and therefore are no longer leaving our houses frequently.

Lincoln Municipal Code §10.32.190 currently reads “It shall be unlawful for any person to park any vehicle or to permit such vehicle to stand on one side of a street within a block for a period longer than twenty-four hours.” This ordinance does not differentiate between residential and non-residential streets, and thus ought be applied equally. Yet, due to our present situation, application in residential areas is problematic.

Because of this, we request that you consider i) suspending enforcement of this provision through the remainder of the pandemic; ii) in preparation for potential future changes, modifying LMC §10.32.190 to differentiate between residential and non-residential areas, and iii) the utility of such a law in the first place.

Yours very truly,

Samuel W. Flint  Joshua Carlson  Kaleb Gaar

Re: Fare Free StarTran

Dear Council Members:

I'm afraid my important message to you on August 3, 2020 may have been drowned out by the beat of the Black Lives Matters drums.

I'm enclosing an article from the August 7, 2020, Lincoln Journal Star that repeats a statistic given in an earlier article I sent to you about the estimate that 40% of those now out of work will have no jobs to return to. This was borne out in another story about the Marriott Hotel wanting to get its appraised value reduced because of lack of hotel guests. In that article it was stated that the Marriott had just converted 40 positions they had classified as temporary layoffs to permanent termination of employment.

We have a lot of citizens struggling financially and they will need free StarTran transportation to go to job interviews, ride to and from work, travel to Food Bank for food, keep medical appointments, visit relatives and other purposes. This isn't going to go away soon.

If we make Fare Free StarTran permanent it will help Lincoln recruit new enterprises and retain educated millenials who surveys show want to live in communities with good public transit.

I have tried everything I can to get StarTran to furnish you with the dollar amount of the savings it will realize by not charging fares. I hope these figures are finally forthcoming. By going Fare Free the city will not lose the $870,000 per year but a much lesser amount when the cost savings are figured in.

StarTran drivers tell me that when fares were charged 90% of the disputes between drivers and riders involved payment of fares. That cause of friction would be removed if riders ride free.

Fare Free needs to be a permanent policy for the City of Lincoln in order to promote long-term recovery from the pandemic and make our city a shining example for those who want to come and locate here.

CFIT asks you to carefully consider the issue and adopt a permanent Fare Free policy for StarTran.

Very truly yours,

RICHARD L. SCHMELING
President
Citizens For Improved Transit

Are some jobs gone?

CHRISTOPHER RUGABER
Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Stark evidence of the damage the resurgent viral outbreak has caused the U.S. economy could come Friday when the government is expected to report that the pace of hiring has slowed significantly after a brief rebound in the spring.

As the coronavirus continues to transform a vast swath of the economy, it's becoming evident that millions of Americans face the prospect of a permanent job loss that will force some to seek work with new industries or in new occupations. If so, that would lead to a slower recovery in the job market than if restaurants, hotels, bars and retail shops were able to fully reopen and recall all their laid-off employees. Few expect that to happen.

On Friday, economists expect the government to report that employers added 1.6 million jobs in July, according to data provider FactSet, and that the unemployment rate declined from 11.1% to a still-high 10.5%. At any other time, a million or more jobs would constitute an unheard-of increase. But July's expected gain would fall way short of June's 4.8 million increase and would signal that hiring has sharply slowed. It would also mean that the economy has regained barely 40% of the jobs that fell to the coronavirus.

The pandemic has lasted

Dear Mayor Baird and Lincoln City Council Members,

Hoping that you might be curious for feedback from your citizens in regard to interactions with the City of Lincoln, I submit the following:

On June 14, 2019, I wrote to Mayor Baird about the fact that large/heavy vehicles traveling on Holdrege Street in front of my house at 3141 Holdrege Street caused my whole house to vibrate. See attached copy of this letter.

On June 14, 2019, I received a letter from Tim Byrne, Manager/Maintenance Operations for the City of Lincoln. See attached copy of this letter. This letter details that a district supervisor inspected Holdrege Street in front of my house and found Holdrege Street to be in good repair and that he was unable to detect any vibrations when standing on the sidewalk in front of my house.

Unfortunately for the integrity of this on-site inspection and evaluation, the district supervisor was not able to differentiate between my house and the sidewalk in front of my house. My complaint did not center around vibration to the sidewalk, but, rather to my house. The city employee did not interview me nor ask for access to my house as part of his investigation.

The whole-house vibrations referred to in my letter of June 19, 2019, to Mayor Baird, continue to this day.

Sincerely,

re: Street Repair

Dear Mayor,

Several years ago street work was done along Holdrege Street in front of my house, primarily along the curb side of the street. This work ended the whole house vibration I felt whenever a heavy vehicle, such as a city bus, drove down Holdrege.

Unfortunately, the whole house vibration has returned when city busses and large trucks drive past.

I would be most appreciative of a rebuilding of Holdrege Street such as to permanently eliminate this situation.

Sincerely,

John Spence

RE: Street Repair

Dear Mr. Spence:

Thank you for writing Mayor Gaylor Baird about pavement issues near your home on Holdrege Street. The Mayor has directed me to respond to your concerns. A district supervisor has inspected the street in front of your property at 3141 Holdrege Street.

This segment has received regular preventative maintenance and is in good condition. The asphalt surface has several years of service life remaining before warranting a rehabilitation project.

The supervisor noted the street drove smooth in both directions and he also stood on the sidewalk in front of your home in order to take a closer look. However he was unable to detect any vibrations or movement as two busses and other traffic passed in each direction. We will continue to monitor the street for any signs of deterioration needing repair.

Please let us know if you have any further questions.

Thank you,

Tim Byrne

I am voicing my concern over the Pat Lopez’s qualifications as health director. I am also concerned about why she has not yet been confirmed. I don’t believe the way she has handled the pandemic and closing of businesses is appropriate. Over zealous is and understatement. She has been holding the office illegally according to the Count Attorney. I certainly hope that before this is voted on that you will give ample notice. Rules must be followed.

Comments: The mask mandate causes so much discrimination! Those who can't mask are criticisms and publicly humiliated for something they are not in control of, businesses are violating the Civil Rights act protected by federal law, discriminating against those who can't wear them for disability purposes and religious reasons or against their Creed. It also causes health issues for healthy people and we should have the right to be in charge of our own health as we always have been. This is a virus is less deadly than other viruses and this kind of government overreach has never happened before and is an outrage. Please allow us the right to choose our own health and end the feeling of rights of others to discriminate those protected under federal laws that are being violated every single day!

listening to today's meeting, it is first if all disgusting that the council believes they have the ability to force masks *in a government buildiwants.

Second, most if the council members are oh so proudly wearing their party like a garishly loud hawaiian shirt whenever they speak. Its supposed to be doing what is right for the city, not the party and not whatever the mayor wants.

As far as nurse Lopez goes, she does not seem to have what is necessary to provide independent leadership for the health department. In press conferences, she clearly comes off as the mayor's lackey. This is not good fior the city or county.

Beyond that, the way she was appointed and then quietly kept on as a CONSULTANT only to be quickly put up for approval once someone in Lincoln had the brains and guts to put forth a legal motion to rid us if here screams of back door, side room politics that one expects from Illinois and California. The mayor's office and city council should be embarrassed as to how an unnecessary mask mandate and the lopez situation have been and are being handled.

My apology for not providing a response to your first email. We will remind teachers that students have an option to wash their hands instead of using sanitizer. I spoke with Logan this morning and shared that he can request to wash his hands during the day by asking his teachers. We will contact teachers that Logan may request to wash his hands in place of use of sanitizer. We will also ask teachers to use extra caution when using disinfectant in the classroom.

Thank you for the note and your understanding as we are working through these new processes to keep a safe learning environment for students and staff.

Subject: Excessive use of hand sanitizer

Hello Mickle admin, I emailed prior to the start of school and did not receive any response addressing my concerns about the excessive use of hand sanitizer. I’m attaching that email in case you would like to reference back to it.

Now that this is a second email and school has started, and my son has now been exposed to excessive amounts of hand sanitizer for 3 days (aprx 7-8oz by now) I’m more frustrated. Your detailed plan of return to school lists out 18 occurrences every day where students are expected, and seemingly forced to use hand sanitizer. Although I don’t entirely agree with the students being mandated to wear masks, I can put up with it for the time being if it keeps us in school. However, to force students to the exposure of a chemical, that not only attacks bad bacteria, but also after excessive use attacks good and necessary bacteria, I am not okay with that. I asked him if he had any opportunity to reject the sanitizer and he said no. He said that staff is there to pump out an excessive amount of sanitizer at every doorway. And in 3 days, there have been no times before or after lunch, or any other part of the day, where students have been allowed or encouraged to make use of handwashing which is clearly stated by many sources including the CDC as the most effective way to keep hands clean. Sanitizer is intended as an alternative when handwashing is not available (like when my sons and I go camping and don’t have running water available).

Based on a typical sanitizer bottle with a sprayer or pump, they are designed to dispense anywhere from 1/8oz all the way up to a full 1oz pump. I know this because I actually sell hand sanitizer in many types and brands and various dispensers. Even at the minimum, they are being forced to use over 2 full oz of sanitizer every day. This is not a good solution- although it may make some people “feel” better and gives the appearance of “safety”, it can ultimately have long term negative effects. No one seems to take into account some of the side effects of the processes that have been taken on as mandates, or for the “safety of everyone”, that could create real issues down the road.

What do I need to do in order to prevent my son from being overly exposed to something that I am strongly against? I know for certain there are others that have this same opinion, but often those of us that choose not to make waves just sit back and take it. I’m tired of sitting back and taking it and would like an actual answer to the question. Do I need to write a note to all of his teachers directly, does he need to wear a lanyard that says “Do not Sanitize”, or can you just make the sanitizer available as needed?

Side note- on day 1 of school, he was inadvertently sprayed with bleach by a teacher while he was cleaning his work area. On day 2 of school, he saw a teacher inadvertently spray a student in the eye with sanitizer.

Now the protocol has apparently changed to only using hand sanitizer when entering a classroom or the building. That is apparently because when they are asked to sanitize their workstations, their hands are exposed to the cleaning solution while they clean their desk and chair. It wouldn’t surprise me if within just a few days you will have students with rashes and reactions to the direct exposure to a cleaning product that in virtually any facility anywhere, would require the use of glove wearing to handle such products. There are also prolonged effects of potential lung damage from continued exposure to chlorine fumes.

It’s these types of double standards that I do not understand or agree with. In order to protect my child, you are doing just the opposite. I’m sure you have other parents that would strongly disagree with me and my opinions, but that doesn’t make my opinion and data invalid. I also have a student attending LNE and they have not forced students to this same exposure in regard to the hand sanitizer. They are however required to sanitize their work areas in the same way as Mickle, and I am also concerned about that and intend to reach out to them as well.

I look forward to your response.

Thanks,

FW: Covid-19, City attorney, public debate on law. Democracy

[CAUTION] This email comes from a sender outside your organization.
Dear mayor, Council members,

I offer this image taken August 17th at 4:30 p.m. near Holmes lake as an example of the Covid risk in our city. The health department must take a different approach regarding freedom, liberty, and the response to covid-19 diagnosis in the young if schools are to remain open.

The reaction that any diagnosis of coronavirus is somehow a government failure and an absolute crisis is misdirected. Governor Ricketts has been consistent in his flatten the curve approach understanding that the virus must run its course through a community until we get herd immunity. Herd immunity will not likely occur due to our successful public health interventions until a vaccine is developed and administered widely. In the interim, we must be able to educate our kids and maintain our economy. The real metric should not be community cases but mortality and cases in the at risk populations particularly those 60 years old and above. The spread in kids that mostly suffer mild disease no worse than typical flu season is predictable when we open schools. So the occurrence cannot be considered a public health failure. What must be monitored is the transfer of infection to at risk teachers and family members. So the CVOID diagnoses should be interpreted by age as you temper the response. We also need to look at hospital capacity more than the number of daily diagnosis and test positivity rates as infection spreads through schools and college campuses. Particularly college kids that are not living at home with at risk family members the diagnosis of COVID is not a big deal.

The experiences reported in South Korea and New Zealand should make it clear to us the virus will be ever present so we must live with it and let people assume tolerable risk while protecting the elderly. I have been able to mitigate my risk by wearing masks indoors and avoiding indoor businesses when a crowd of unmasked people were evident even prior to the mandate. The wineries outside the city allow for ample outside seating to enjoy social activity safely with close friends. Outside dining and outside coffee shops work as well. I also respect the right of people to be stupid and go to a pool hall if they want. I believe we exaggerate the risk to community when subpopulations are irresponsible. We can avoid them to a high degree and as long as their infections do not threaten hospital capacity what is the harm. The recent surge in the 20-30 year olds from the bars did not threaten hospital capacity neither will the campus or K-12 infections.

One value to actually bringing health directives to the city council for final approval would be to get insight from a broader range of people. It is important for the governing group to face those most significantly impacted by the directives that hurt them economically. Even when the outcomes are just and appropriate, as I believe they have been, it serves a great government purpose to let those impacted have a voice in our community. Yes, it is far easier to hide from public scrutiny and not receive input but that is not what made America great. I urge you to seek true distinguish leadership and start running these health directive through the city council with appropriate public input and debate to be reaffirmed and approved to continue. I suggest it is appropriate to issue the directives if urgent, implement them as needed but get them on the next council meeting agenda, read them and then approve them the following week or not or with modifications. Many of these directives have the effect of law and thus do belong in the legislative body for the city and should allow for appropriate public debate and deliberation. Many times those people that are opposed can still feel supportive of action if they feel they are heard and were given a voice. It also allows the citizens opportunity to better understand the rationale. Taking away the voice of the people is why many protested last night. There was no reason that Ms. Lopez could not have been affirmed next week. The council was very disrespectful to the electorate by waiving rule of order. Yes it is convenient to behave as a dictator but it is WRONG. The Council should be approving every health directive as a temporary order if not before as immediately after as can be accomplished with appropriate public input.

I must add I was also a bit disappointed by your city attorney. He seemed very ill prepared for the questions about city procedure and the legality of appointments, splitting the proposal and those were absolutely predictable questions for someone in his position. He should be urged to step up his understanding of the law, read the constitution of the US, the State and the city’s charter and should be able to recite that stuff verbatim if he is going to be effective moving forward. Saying probably implying maybe I can check on it made him look totally unprepared and incompetent. If he doesn’t know city procedure, and applicable law with confidence and doesn’t prepare for the meeting agenda he should be replaced by someone that will do the work and show up prepared. There are far more competent appearing attorney’s in the community I have seen before the Council. I know he has your support but you should council him to step up his effort if he wants to be successful and not hurt the city.

Sincerely

David Steffen, Lincoln resident
Dear Lincoln City Council Members:

Thank you for your vote to approve Pat Lopez as Health Director. It was heartening to see that the vote was 7-0. It made me proud to be a Lincolnite.

With Respect,

Lucinda Zmarzly
While it is difficult to comment on this topic without sounding like I am against children’s safety (I’m not), I suggest that the council ask the traffic engineering folks whether they have considered reducing the times that the lower speed limits are in effect?

In my 30 plus years experience in slowing down for Lincoln school zones, what I have noticed is that I seldom see children! If I had to put a percentile on this experience, it would be over 90%.

So perhaps the school zone times need reducing as well as the speeds?

Dear Council Members,

After reading about the idiocy over Pat Lopez and the mask-shunning at your most recent meeting, I appreciate your service even more than I have in the past. Who knew our city could be home to such loony, selfish, short-sighted people? The final straw is using “your knee is on my neck” to equate having to wear a mask with the loss of a human life. Disgusting.

Thank you thank you thank you for serving Lincolnites!

(No reply required.)

Sincerely,
Claudia Lindley

Congratulations on your actions last evening. Approving Pat Lopez as the Director of County Health and reaffirming the mask mandate were laudatory actions.

Also, your patience in dealing with those opposed to the above actions was commendable. At one level I wanted the whole bunch of those who refused to wear masks escorted from the building. This whole nonsense about choosing whether to wear a mask is an individual's right is so ignorant. You handled the matter with aplomb and courtesy beyond what they deserved.

Finally, I hope your actions do not give confidence to those opposing the mandate. The Madsen's issue was extremely generous to their concerns. These willful law breakers probably wanted action taken against those peacefully protesting the BLM issue. That was also gracefully handled by city officials.

Stay safe and, again, thank you.

Ron Case
Lincoln
Council—

Please see two pg attachment. This is what a lawful resolution looks like.

The nonsensical mask mandate of underlords Baird, Lopez and Raybould will NOT be followed.

They can cry "science" all they want. But their boogeyman is nothing but science-FICTION.

It is doubtful they could tell the difference between the two if they wanted to.

Obviously, they don't.

The idea that correlation equals causation is one of the oldest logical fallacies in the book.

The only virus is the one that has infected them with a lust for power.

So here we are. Come get us.

We live by God's rules, not your arbitrary, intrusive, abusive, pernicious and draconian man-made ones.

The next time you pick a health director, you might want to pick someone who is the image of health, because he/she actually has some knowledge of what constitutes health...and the discipline to follow it.

Actions, and the results that follow, always speak louder than words.

I hope Jane has settled down from yesterday. She looked like she was going to have a nervous breakdown. That's what worrying about everyone else, and trying to control everyone else, does to you. Please find someone who can help her relax and not be so meddlesome. You don't live long that way.

Cheers—
