The Courts and You

It is vital that you appear for your court date. If you miss court, there may be severe consequences, including:

- A warrant may be issued for your arrest, or your driver's license may be suspended.
- You may be charged with the additional crime of failure to appear, which is a Class II misdemeanor. That could mean up to 6 months in jail and/or a $1,000 fine.
- Showing yourself as unreliable may make it harder to get a low bond amount set for a future court date.
- Even if you are not formally charged with a failure to appear, failing to appear may be considered by the judge in determining your sentence on the original charge.

The courts of Nebraska aim to serve the best interests of you and the public:

- Courts provide neutral and consistent judgments to all defendants. The judge who presides over your hearing will be fair and open-minded.
- Courts treat all defendants charged with the same kind of offense in the same way, considering their criminal history, etc.
- Courts treat all defendants politely, with courtesy, dignity, and respect.
- Courts take defendants' concerns seriously. We understand that you might be worried about the hearing and its consequences, and we are prepared to listen to your concerns and offer explanations as best we can.
